

The subject matter expertise inside the data center is simply remarkable. Their knowledge of the interdependencies inside the Micro Data Center (Compute, Network, Storage, Power, and Cooling) significantly improved the team's understanding of how one thing affects the other. Once we were informed, we were able to make better project decisions leading to significantly improved project outcomes. Staying on task, meeting our project timeline, and remaining under budget impressed executive management.

Data Center Manager